THE HILL DEMOCRACY

A Forceful Arraignment of Ex-President Cleveland.

THE LINE OF OPPOSITION INDICATED.

The "Regulars" are Opposed to the Mugwumps of Whatever Party—the Present Organization of the Party Means Success.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Edward Murphy, Jr., of Troy, N. Y., delegate-at-large to the democratic national convention and at present for the past six years chairman of the democratic state committee, made a statement to the press last night detailing his reasons for the belief that if nominated Mr. Cleveland could not carry New York state. Mr. Murphy's reasons for so believing were given as follows:

"The democrats of the country at large, who favor Mr. Cleveland, believe the democrats of New York to be obstinate and willful in opposing their wishes to that of the great majority, and in regard to the action of the New York delegation in that respect, we shall have our choice notwithstanding the majority against us as unavoidable. They do not know that the democracy of our state would not be for Mr. Cleveland if Mr. Hill were not a candidate. They do not understand that the opposition to Mr. Cleveland is based upon an idea, a sentiment, which has become as fixed and absolute as a principle. This is in the dislike of the movement. It is not the desire to be a republican mugwump, like some of the editors in New York, or a democratic mugwump like ex-Secretary Fairchild or ex-Mayor Grace. The democrats dislike them all and all their followers, alders and abettors, with a bitterness far exceeding any possible ill-will which they entertain towards their republican opponents, for the reason that the latter are and mainly remain with the democratic mugwump, pretending to be a friend, slips his atlito into your back while you are opposing the enemy. Why?"

"In 1885, the New York Times and the New York Evening Post and all their followers bolted Gov. Hill. Ever since that time they have assaulted him at every step—misrepresenting the reasons for every action taken, they have been opposed to the election of Gov. Hill. Every one knows what they did in 1889 in the contest against Tammany Hall, the regular democratic organization of the city of New York, in which contest Messrs. Fairchild and Grace were prominent in an open and undisguised combination by the republican organization of New York city at its head, of which was ex-Senator Thomas Platt, and had the combination been successful, the whole electing majority of the great democratic stamping-club would have been turned over to the republican party, and not only would that election machinery, now controlled by the democratic regular organization, be in control of the republican party, but that same party would absolutely control it in this presidential election."

As the people know and understand the various other acts of treachery occurring in the several years from 1884 down to the present time, I will pass them and go directly to the election of 1892, when the democratic party, smarting under the indignities and insults which have been heaped upon it by those mugwumps, determined to drive them out of the party, to force them out of all connection with the organization of the state, so that their only home should be with their allies, the common enemy, on the principle that our party could more easily fight its enemies when it could put itself in front of them than when the county democracy official representatives of the mugwump convention, thumbing Mr. Grace and the rest of them in a heap together.

"What was the result?"

"Even Lieut.-Gov. Sheehan, whom they hated most and against whom they strove hardest, received over 35,000 majority. When that result was reached the democrats of New York thought they were not to be beaten longer with the hypocrysis and treachery of the mugwumps, and they took steps accordingly which resulted in the holding of the February convention and its action."

"What would the nomination of Mr. Cleveland mean?"

"It would mean the destruction of the regular organizations in the great democratic cities of the country, and in the state itself, which organization has successfully maintained its territories by increasing majorities for the last seven years. It would not be possible for Gov. Hill and every member of the national delegation, talking from now until the day of election, with the aid of the state and local organizations, to convince the rank and file of the democracy that the nomination and election of Mr. Cleveland would not be to put in power the men who are the condition of demoralization, as he is called, over those who have contributed so much to the success of the democratic party of the state, and our people look upon the contemplated action of the democracy in other states as intending a reward of the would-be democratic mugwump assassin. Therefore, the feeling is growing very bitter in New York state toward the mugwumps, and we sincerely trust that the democracy of other states will not humiliate the democracy of the state of New York by nominating a resident of that state whom no organization there is positive will be elected."

"What would other states say if New York tried to force them to take a candidate from their state whom their united delegation opposed and whose nomination would mean certain defeat?"

"The democracy of the state of New York are inspired by something more than loyalty and friendship for Gov. Hill. They are actuated by the love of the party, and they would be opposing the nomination of ex-President Cleveland as strongly to-day as they now do whether Gov. Hill was a candidate or not. In addition to this, is the fact that the rank and file of the democracy of New York state believe in organization, because they have become convinced that the present organization of the democratic party means democratic success."

"Mr. Cleveland, by acquiescence at least in the action of the mugwump convention, has said that he is willing to go before the country as a representative of a body of bolters and know that the party leaders in the state might do, would, in my opinion, convince the rank and file that they should support a candidate who was the representative of such a body."

AN IMPORTANT MEETING

Of the Subcommittee of the National Democratic Committee.

CHICAGO, June 17.—The subcommittee of the national democratic committee held an important meeting at the Palmer house to-day. It is practically to decide who will be the temporary chairman of the convention. No selection will be made until Monday. The members of the subcommittee are Henry Watterson, chairman, and Senator Briar of Ohio; German of Maryland, and Ransome, of New York. The late Senator Barbour, of West Virginia, was a member of the subcommittee, and the vacancy will be filled by the West Virginia delegation, which will select one of its number for the place.

The democrats of the country at large, who favor Mr. Cleveland, believe the democrats of New York to be obstinate and willful in opposing their wishes to that of the great majority, and in regard to the action of the New York delegation in that respect, we shall have our choice notwithstanding the majority against us as unavoidable. They do not know that the democracy of our state would not be for Mr. Cleveland if Mr. Hill were not a candidate.

They do not understand that the opposition to Mr. Cleveland is based upon an idea, a sentiment, which has become as fixed and absolute as a principle. This is in the dislike of the movement. It is not the desire to be a republican mugwump, like some of the editors in New York, or a democratic mugwump like ex-Secretary Fairchild or ex-Mayor Grace. The democrats dislike them all and all their followers, alders and abettors, with a bitterness far exceeding any possible ill-will which they entertain towards their republican opponents, for the reason that the latter are and mainly remain with the democratic mugwump, pretending to be a friend, slips his atlito into your back while you are opposing the enemy.

"Why do they dislike the mugwump?"

"In 1885, the New York Times and the New York Evening Post and all their followers bolted Gov. Hill. Ever since that time they have assaulted him at every step—misrepresenting the reasons for every action taken, they have been opposed to the election of Gov. Hill. ROUND GAME.

Cleveland, Minn., June 17.—A

Markato, Minn., special to the Journal says: The very latest reports do not improve the situation much. The dead are being brought into the nearest towns. At Hartland five were killed.

Four dead bodies have been brought into Minnesota and three into Wells.

John Brown, his daughter, a school teacher, boarding with him, and a neighbor, were all found dead at Minocqua Lake. Brown's wife is alive. He is a wealthy farmer living between Wells and Minnesota Lake, and not a stick of his elegant house is left.

The schoolhouse at Sherburne was destroyed and one pupil killed. Nearly all the others were more or less injured.

The first story of sixteen dead at Point was untrue. The country is flooded and the prairie is covered with people looking for their homes.

Fields, orchards, and vineyards are all kinds of conveyances. The houses are mostly swept away entirely without a vestige to show where they stood.

When the full reports are in it is believed the list of fatalities will be thirty or forty.

The cyclone split when it reached

Winneshiek City and one part went south of Wells while the most destructive part went north. Many people were blown to death by the wind.

A farmout (Minn.) says: The cyclone passed through Martin county, from west to east at 5 p. m. Wednesday, causing thousands of dollars' worth of damage.

A schoolhouse at Fox lake was demolished and the teachers and pupils seventeen in number, were all injured, some of them severely.

SUGAR BEET EXPERIMENTS

Trials in Progress in the Different

Soils of Illinois.

Work on an important experiment for Illinois was inaugurated at the experiment station at Champaign this spring, of that of raising sugar beets.

The station sent several different varieties of sugar beet seed to farmers living in different quarters of the state, with instructions how to plant and care for, and the result of the test will be important to those interested in sugar beet raising. The analysis will not be made until September, when the sample grown will be sent in. The object of this experiment is to ascertain what variety of beet can be grown most successfully in the different soils of Illinois. The test has been made in various other states, but this is the first trial here.

The State Fair.

The Illinois state board of agriculture is making extensive preparations for the fortieth annual great prairie fair, to be held in the city of Peoria September 20-30 next.

The board feels that its past efforts, general satisfaction and success warrant the assertion that no fair in America offers better inducements to both exhibitors and patrons than the annual exhibition held under its auspices.

The premium list embraces classes for horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, farm and orchard products, woman's work, inventions, the arts and school work, and the premiums offered aggregate nearly $35,000.

The program of special attractions will be the largest and most complete of any ever offered at the state fair, and will be announced through the press as soon as the details are perfected. Tuesday will be bicycle day; Wednesday children's day; Thursday Republican and Democratic day, with no speeches; Friday music day.

The Smallest Republic.
Philadelphia Record: San Marino, the little republic enclosed within the boundaries of Italy, bears the encyclopedic honor of being the smallest self-governed state in the world. This, however, is a mistake. Gous, a little hamlet in the Pyrenees, is even more of a real republic than our great United States. It belongs to neither France nor Spain, and has not to exceed twenty-five citizens all told. They have no taxes or other public rates to pay; no mayor, watchman or other official, each male inhabitant of the age of 18 years having equal say in administering the affairs of state. Among them is neither rich
